

The FAA and Department of Homeland Security require us to enforce these rules for your own safety. This is now a common procedure at any major event.